Jubilant Organosys signs $60-m CRAMS contracts

■ NEW DELHI: Pharmaceutical research firm Jubilant Organosys on Tuesday said it has added custom research and manufacturing services (CRAMS) contracts worth $60 million to its order book for the year 2007. The company said 90% of the contracts for the calendar year 2007 are from drug firms based in regulated markets of US and Europe, Jubilant said in a statement. "The addition of these annual contracts reaffirms our global position in CRAMS. Going forward, we will continue to focus on the twin strategies of investments in innovation and world-class manufacturing facilities, as key competitive differentiators," Jubilant Organosys CMD Shyam S Bhartai said in the statement.
